RIVER AND STREAM CATCHMENTS OF NEW ZEALAND

THE object of this publication is to list the main river and stream catchments, and to codify and define their locations. Owing to the multiplicity of streams of the same name, the Soil Conservation and Rivers Control Council decided that some systematic code was essential and, for the last three years, has been using these six-figure numbers as the basis of its filing system. The numbers are considered as referring to catchment areas drained by the particular stream or streams so that they give a complete geographical coverage of the Dominion.

Catchment areas whose first three figures lie between 001..... and 499..... are in the North Island, starting at Spirits Bay and proceeding clockwise round the island. Those between 500..... and 999..... are in the South Island, starting in Golden Bay south of Farewell Spit and similarly traversing the island in a clockwise direction. Because of insufficiency of numbers it has been necessary to group the catchment areas of some unimportant streams under one number. The naming of catchments is most thorough in the more thickly populated areas, and a proportion of spare numbers has been provided elsewhere.

The first three figures of any catchment number denote that of a river or stream discharging into the sea. The next two figures refer to a tributary of the main stream, numbered from the mouth and proceeding upstream with the numbering of tributaries from either bank as they are met. The last number of the six-figure code refers to a sub-tributary, that is a stream flowing into one of the main tributaries. In general this provides an adequate coverage though it is severely strained in the case of large catchments such as the Clutha and, to a lesser extent, the Waikato. In such cases several minor tributaries are grouped under one number. Tributaries of a sub-tributary are shown set back in the list. Example: 752636 Poolburn. Here 752 denotes the Clutha River flowing to the sea; 63 is a tributary of the Clutha, the Manuherikia; and the final 6, the Poolburn discharging into the Manuherikia. Zeros are significant and may not be omitted, e.g., 037010 denotes the Waiaruhe River, a tributary of the Waitangi River, Bay of Islands.

Note: In the list the first three figures denoting the main catchment discharging into the sea appear at the top of each series but are not repeated for the tributaries or sub-tributaries. The numbers of these are set back. When quoting a catchment number all six figures, including zeros, must be used to provide the complete reference.
